Item 8.01 Other Events.

Port Westward Generating Plant - Update

On June 11, 2007, the Port Westward Generating Plant (Port Westward) was placed into service. Port Westward, a 400 MW natural gas-fired facility located in Clatskanie, Oregon, is owned and operated by Portland General Electric Company (PGE).

In January 2007, the Public Utility Commission of Oregon (OPUC) issued a rate order approving a 2.8% increase related to the cost recovery of Port Westward, to become effective when the plant goes into service. In compliance with the rate order, PGE filed a tariff with the OPUC on June 12, 2007 requesting that the rate increase become effective on June 15, 2007.

In its rate order, the OPUC established a process for re-examining the Port Westward rate increase if the plant's in service date is on or after May 2, 2007. In accordance with this process, the OPUC staff and intervenors have 15 days from the June 11, 2007 in service date to determine whether there is new information that requires a re-examination of the costs of Port Westward reflected in PGE's rates. If it is determined that further proceedings are necessary, the additional revenues collected as a result of the rate increase would be subject to refund, pending the outcome of the proceedings and any required rate adjustment. If there is no determination that further proceedings are necessary, the new rates are expected to remain in effect.
